Loser Charges Ballot Fraud To La Guardia

Henry Frank, Held Defeated in 20th District, Alleges Intimidation, Attempted Bribery, Inaccurate Count Gets Show-Cause Order

Directed to Representative-Elect, Election and Police Officials and Socialist

The election of Major F. H. La Guardia, former President of the Board of Aldermen, as Representative in Congress in the 20th District, is challenged by Henry Frank, his defeated Democratic rival, who charges fraud, intimidation, attempted bribery and the inaccurate canvassing of ballots. Frank served papers yesterday on John R. Voorhis, president of the Board of Elections, in a proceeding brought in the Supreme Court for an examination of ballots.

An order to show cause calls for a hearing on Frank's application in Special Term, Part I, of the Supreme Court to-morrow. The order is directed against election and police officials, and against La Guardia, William Karlin, the Socialist and Farmer-Labor candidate, and others. The 20th District was credited with 8,492 votes, Frank 8,224, Karlin 5,261 and Salatsky 95. Defective ballots totaled 511, and 711 were counted blank.

Blanks Added to Ballots

In his petition Frank charges: That in many of the election districts ballots which were blank were added to the totals of the ballots voted for La Guardia.

That ballots improperly voted and void because the voting marks were not in the form of a cross and not in the voting space, or were defaced, marked or torn or mutilated were counted as good ballots for La Guardia.

That ballots which were properly voted for Frank were counted void.

That several members of boards of inspectors were intimidated and coerced to commit the frauds complained of and to return false and inaccurate results of the canvass.

Offers of Money Charged

That in several cases offers of money were made by representatives of La Guardia for the purpose of inducing members of the boards of inspectors to make false returns and that money was accepted for falsifying returns.

That in the 7th Election District of the 17th Assembly District the return shows 334 ballots cast, whereas there were 457 ballots cast, and that the 103 ballots voted, but not counted were voted for Frank.

That in the 13th Election District of the 18th Assembly District the return shows 567 votes cast, but that only 562 were cast, the discrepancy of five being added to La Guardia's vote.

In the 14th Election District of the 18th Assembly District, it is charged, the return shows 620 votes cast, but that in fact 620 votes were cast, the nine votes not accounted for having been cast for Frank.

214 Good Votes for Frank

Julius Levine, of 34 West 112th Street, chairman of the Board of Elections of the 7th Election District of the 17th Assembly District, says in his affidavit that he saw at least thirty-five blank ballots, but that the return shows that no blank ballots were cast; that he saw ten void ballots counted for La Guardia.

Says La Guardia Raised Fist

Jacob Rubinfeld, a Democratic watcher in the 23d Election District of the 18th Assembly District, deposes that La Guardia and his friends interfered with the work of the qualified officials in the precinct. He swears: "One of the ballots voted for La Guardia had a mark and erasure for Karlin, but was counted for La Guardia. When I protested, at least eight people, including La Guardia, began to handle the ballot. A scuffle ensued. La Guardia raised his fist and threatened me if I interfered. The men in back pushed and jostled me around. A sergeant of police told the men not to jump on me and to leave me alone, but the sergeant also told me not to interfere."

Charles Vahlbruck, a Democratic watcher, deposes that a Republican offered him and Patrick J. McDonald $250 if they would count twenty-five votes cast for Frank in favor of La Guardia. He and McDonald were inspectors. The offer, he said, was made in the polling place of the 14th Election District of the 18th Assembly District. Vahlbruck also tells of a personal encounter with La Guardia and men with the major, Vahlbruck's father also swears that La Guardia threatened him with a knife, and that he "would break him in two."

wear an overcoat and for the first half of his speech his head was uncovered. The invitation to the public extended by Mrs. Kate T. Holmes Abrams, chairman of the committee of Democratic women in charge, brought the first participants of the "pilgrimage" almost two hours before the formal program began at 3 o'clock, when a chorus of about thirty sang a series of Southern melodies with banjo accompaniment. During this time every flutter of a window curtain brought a cheer.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson appeared at a second-story window toward the end of the song fest and soon afterward he came to the street entrance. Flowers presented by several small girls, including Miss Helen Sue Trinkle, six-year-old daughter of Governor Trinkle of Virginia, and Miss Elizabeth Jude Edwards, daughter of Governor Edwards of New Jersey.

Some of the organizations that participated in the demonstration were the Non-Partisan League of Nations, Gold Star Mothers and Modern Health Crusaders, who appeared in colorful uniforms and emblems.

Credits Wilson With Peace Aims

Former Ambassador Morgenthau's greeting was: "Armistice Day will ever be memorable in history as the victorious conclusion of the World War on the basis of principles enunciated by you and approved by all the peoples of the world. In so far as the principles of peace laid down by you have not been adhered to the world has not achieved peace."

"This gathering that you see before you represents the millions of Americans as well as millions of Europeans who believed that the world will find peace only along the route pointed out by you. Those principles are right. The people of America must be subdued. The pledges will be kept. The principles will yet be adopted and through them the wounds of the war will be healed. Last Tuesday it was demonstrated that the people of America are escaping from materialism and selfishness and are preparing again to recognize their solemn and inexorable duty toward their fellow-citizens in Europe. They realize that the only true protection for America is the common protection of Western civilization. The forces of destruction that have been unbridled in this war must be subdued."

"We recognize on this anniversary that you were a true prophet of the judgment of mankind, and we are proud to call ourselves your disciples in the conviction that only your operation now can the world be saved from another and even more terrible war."

It is for our government to determine whether it will help now or assume the responsibility of fighting again in the near future."

Because of the nation-wide interest manifested in the Wilson demonstration both last year and this year, James W. Copeland, originator of the idea, announced at the conclusion of the ceremonies to-day that the city of New York would have an annual event in Armistice Day celebrations in Washington.

A message from Governor Edwards, of New Jersey, was delivered by his daughter, Edith, along with a bouquet of flowers. The message said: "New Jersey joins in voicing the sentiment of the nation in devout thanks to the Almighty for your restoration to health and ability to receive in person our earnest felicitations on this anniversary of Armistice Day."

Wilson Says Party Must 'Purify Hearts' for 1924

Ex-President Writes Arkansas Senator He Is Proud Friends Credit Election Result to Him

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Woodrow Wilson in a letter to Senator Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, concerning the recent elections, said: "We must now clear our minds and purify our hearts to offer the country in 1924 exactly the service it most needs and the candidate who can best render that service."

The letter, which was made public to-night, was in reply to one from the Arkansas Senator, who said: "All your friends rejoice as much as you in the result of the recent election, which is a vindication of the principles for which you fought."

In reply Mr. Wilson said: "It makes me very proud that you and other generous friends should attribute the results of Tuesday's election in some measure to the people's thoughtfulness, and I am truly grateful for your own generous expression of confidence and approval."

book, so that he would not be able to expunge the offending passages from the work.

From The Tribune's Washington Bureau

Dr. HARRY FORTESCUE, Secretary of War Weeks, indicated to-day that lecturers who are billed to address military audiences will be carefully investigated before their speaking engagements are made to avoid occurrence such as the withdrawal yesterday of the privilege from the Hon. John William Fortescue, the British writer, to address the West Point cadets.

It is the desire of the War Secretary to have military scholars addressed by speakers who are in sympathy with the American point of view on military matters.

Dr. D. P. Barrows, who recently resigned the presidency of the University of California, is to address the military students at the Army War College here to-morrow. The attention of the War Department was called to-day to the fact that the student body of the institution recently held a mass meeting on the university campus in protest of Dr. Barrows' resignation. The War Department will inquire into the circumstances of the resignation, it was indicated, before the date of his appearance to speak at the War College.

Craig Asks Speed On Charter, or He Will Submit Own

Says Document Written With Porcupine Quill in Canadian Woods Embraces All Features of Home Rule

Comptroller Charles L. Craig announced yesterday that if Governor Miller's Charter Revision Commission, headed by Henry DeForest Baldwin, is not ready at the opening of the state Legislature to report its proposed new city charter, he will submit his own "home rule" charter, prepared in the Canadian woods and written with a porcupine quill last winter.

The draft of the instrument was submitted on January 10 last to the Charter Revision Commission and provoked favorable comment. It is a brief document, but it is said to be substantially absolute control over its local affairs, including transit.

Yesterday the Comptroller sent to the fifteen members of the charter commission a letter in which he referred to the draft sent them, and which the commission has not acted upon.

Referring to the announced disposition of the commission at its last meeting to await the result of the election before doing more work, Comptroller Craig says:

The result of the election is now sufficiently well known to leave no doubt in the minds of any member of your commission as to the character of a charter that should be reported to the Legislature. It was with a forward view that I submitted such a charter to you on January 10, 1922. It is inconceivable that any member of the commission should now entertain the view that I submitted such a charter to you in any degree fails to give the City of New York the full measure of home rule, would receive the approval of the incoming Legislature, the Mayor of New York City or Governor Smith.

"The determination to approve the home rule charter prepared by me involves, but two questions: First, whether a short form charter is to be submitted to the City of New York, or whether the City of New York is to be freed from state interference in such purely municipal matters as transportation and other public utilities lying wholly within the limits of the greater city."

Bayard Defeats du Pont For Both Senate Terms

Final Count in Delaware Gives Democratic Candidate Double Victory

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 11.—The official canvass of the vote cast in Delaware last Tuesday shows that Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat, was elected over Senator T. Coleman du Pont, Republican, for both the short and long terms in the Senate. The final count showed that Bayard won the short term by the narrow margin of sixty votes and the long term by a plurality of 275. The full figures are as follows:

Short term, Bayard, 38,954; Du Pont, 38,894.

Long term, Bayard, 37,904; Du Pont, 36,979.

Senator-elect Bayard was in the courtroom when the count was finished and was congratulated by Chief Justice Fennell and resident George Rice, who sat at the canvassing board in New Castle County, which includes Wilmington.

Kansans Arm For Fight on Labor Court

Unions Demand Law Permit Striking, as Democratic Governor Nears Office With Republican House

W.A. White's Trial Nov. 22

Editor Charged With Violation of Statute Through Posting Notice in Strike

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 11.—Politicians in Kansas are polishing up sabers for the fight that is bound to come on the Industrial Court. Union labor has announced its intention of demanding that the court be abolished or amended in order that it will not forbid strikes or picketing in essential industries, or, failing in this, will insist that the Governor appoint representatives of union labor to two places on the court.

Governor-elect J. W. Davis has not indicated how far he will go in seeking to alter the court, but Democratic leaders who will meet him in conference Monday expect to find out.

Two places on the court in the best representation labor could expect to have on the tribunal during the Administration. The term of W. L. Huggins, presiding judge, expires next winter. The Senate in the 1921 Legislature refused to confirm the appointment of John S. Crawford because he carried a union card. The appointment of James A. McDermott was confirmed by the Senate for a term of four years.

Mr. Davis made his first speech after his election to-day at Ottawa, Kan. He did not refer to the Industrial Court, but said the two paramount problems of the Administration were the conditions under which the farmer is compelled to buy on a war-time basis and sell his products at pre-war prices, and the other to remove the unnecessary overburden of governmental expense.

A fight on the Industrial Court is certain since labor considers the election of Davis as a direct notice served on the state that the court law is to be repealed or amended to suit labor. Tuesday's election increased the Democratic strength in the House from eleven to twenty-seven, which still leaves the Republicans in control. It is indicated that Republicans in the House must favor repeal of the court law or face defeat in the 1924 election.

The trial of William Allen White for having posted a notice during the late rail strike which was held for an incentive to strikers is set for November 22. It had been postponed until next February, but at the request of Mr. White it was set up for this month. "I want to test this law," Mr. White, referring to the statute which his posting of a notice declaring his strike attitude is said to have violated, is quoted from Emporia as saying, "and I think the sooner it is over the better it will be for all concerned. I am serious about the matter and don't want to make a farce comedy of it."

Bones of Railway Official Missing 6 Years Found

Carleton Banker Disappeared From Deer Hunting Party on Nov. 10, 1916

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Six years ago to a day since Carleton Banker, formerly an official of the Ponds, Johnston & Gloverville Railroad, disappeared while hunting in the north woods in the vicinity of the camp of David Brown, on Fall Stream, a skeleton believed to be that of the missing Gloverville man was found by William Abrams, of Aseneo, near Vireo Lake. Sufficient information was conveyed by Mr. Abrams' daughter by telephone to the Misses Helen and Marion Banker regarding the clothing and other identification marks to make it reasonably certain that the bones found are those of Mr. Banker.

Mr. Abrams, accompanied by Dr. J. D. Head, of Wells, Coroner of Hamilton County, left for Vireo Lake to bring the skeleton out of the woods, and were reported from Piscataway late this afternoon to be on their way to Wells.

Mr. Banker's two daughters will go to Wells, accompanied by Attorney W. R. Baker, to identify the clothing. Other means of identification are a peculiar hunting knife, such as was carried by Mr. Banker; the clothing, consisting of a pair of canvas rubber boots, small and not common in the north woods, trousers, shirt and a hunting coat.

Arrest Believed to Nip "German Fascist" Coup

By Cable to The Tribune

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Lieutenant Rossbach, known as the leader of the "German Fascist," was arrested here to-day on his arrival from Munich. According to political secret service men who made the arrest, Lieutenant Rossbach—formerly with the Kossbach Corps, one of the country's largest secret military organizations, takes its name—came to Berlin to organize groups on the pattern of the M. A. S. (Militarische Arbeiter-Schule) organization in Italy. He had planned to take charge of the movement in Prussia, while leaving his cronies, Hiller, at the head of the Bavarian organization, it is said.

Detectives who assisted the police promise the arrest of other leaders, who are suspected of planning a coup here similar to that of Mussolini in Italy.

2 American Missionaries Held by Chinese Bandits

State Department Minister Schurman to Visit Their Release

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11 (By The Associated Press).—Two American missionaries, unnamed, are among eight captives held by bandits in Houssing Province, according to word received here to-day from M. Soderstrom, of the Lutheran Mission, who has been released by the brigands and has arrived at Yenchow. She also reported that she saw H. E. Legard, of the China Inland Mission staff, among the hostages.

Legard was held by a different band from that which captured and later freed M. Soderstrom, she reported, and the two Americans, together with several other missionaries, are being held by a different band. The State Department, American Minister Schurman has asked the Chinese government to procure their release.

Soderstrom and Legard, whose religious communities are not known here, are understood to have been among a dozen or more foreign missionary workers who were made prisoners recently by bandits.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 11.—Politicians in Kansas are polishing up sabers for the fight that is bound to come on the Industrial Court. Union labor has announced its intention of demanding that the court be abolished or amended in order that it will not forbid strikes or picketing in essential industries, or, failing in this, will insist that the Governor appoint representatives of union labor to two places on the court.

Governor-elect J. W. Davis has not indicated how far he will go in seeking to alter the court, but Democratic leaders who will meet him in conference Monday expect to find out.

Two places on the court in the best representation labor could expect to have on the tribunal during the Administration. The term of W. L. Huggins, presiding judge, expires next winter. The Senate in the 1921 Legislature refused to confirm the appointment of John S. Crawford because he carried a union card. The appointment of James A. McDermott was confirmed by the Senate for a term of four years.

Mr. Davis made his first speech after his election to-day at Ottawa, Kan. He did not refer to the Industrial Court, but said the two paramount problems of the Administration were the conditions under which the farmer is compelled to buy on a war-time basis and sell his products at pre-war prices, and the other to remove the unnecessary overburden of governmental expense.

A fight on the Industrial Court is certain since labor considers the election of Davis as a direct notice served on the state that the court law is to be repealed or amended to suit labor. Tuesday's election increased the Democratic strength in the House from eleven to twenty-seven, which still leaves the Republicans in control. It is indicated that Republicans in the House must favor repeal of the court law or face defeat in the 1924 election.

The trial of William Allen White for having posted a notice during the late rail strike which was held for an incentive to strikers is set for November 22. It had been postponed until next February, but at the request of Mr. White it was set up for this month. "I want to test this law," Mr. White, referring to the statute which his posting of a notice declaring his strike attitude is said to have violated, is quoted from Emporia as saying, "and I think the sooner it is over the better it will be for all concerned. I am serious about the matter and don't want to make a farce comedy of it."

Bones of Railway Official Missing 6 Years Found

Carleton Banker Disappeared From Deer Hunting Party on Nov. 10, 1916

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE TRIBUNE

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Six years ago to a day since Carleton Banker, formerly an official of the Ponds, Johnston & Gloverville Railroad, disappeared while hunting in the north woods in the vicinity of the camp of David Brown, on Fall Stream, a skeleton believed to be that of the missing Gloverville man was found by William Abrams, of Aseneo, near Vireo Lake. Sufficient information was conveyed by Mr. Abrams' daughter by telephone to the Misses Helen and Marion Banker regarding the clothing and other identification marks to make it reasonably certain that the bones found are those of Mr. Banker.

Mr. Abrams, accompanied by Dr. J. D. Head, of Wells, Coroner of Hamilton County, left for Vireo Lake to bring the skeleton out of the woods, and were reported from Piscataway late this afternoon to be on their way to Wells.

Mr. Banker's two daughters will go to Wells, accompanied by Attorney W. R. Baker, to identify the clothing. Other means of identification are a peculiar hunting knife, such as was carried by Mr. Banker; the clothing, consisting of a pair of canvas rubber boots, small and not common in the north woods, trousers, shirt and a hunting coat.

Arrest Believed to Nip "German Fascist" Coup

By Cable to The Tribune

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Lieutenant Rossbach, known as the leader of the "German Fascist," was arrested here to-day on his arrival from Munich. According to political secret service men who made the arrest, Lieutenant Rossbach—formerly with the Kossbach Corps, one of the country's largest secret military organizations, takes its name—came to Berlin to organize groups on the pattern of the M. A. S. (Militarische Arbeiter-Schule) organization in Italy. He had planned to take charge of the movement in Prussia, while leaving his cronies, Hiller, at the head of the Bavarian organization, it is said.

Detectives who assisted the police promise the arrest of other leaders, who are suspected of planning a coup here similar to that of Mussolini in Italy.

2 American Missionaries Held by Chinese Bandits

State Department Minister Schurman to Visit Their Release

SHANGHAI, Nov. 11 (By The Associated Press).—Two American missionaries, unnamed, are among eight captives held by bandits in Houssing Province, according to word received here to-day from M. Soderstrom, of the Lutheran Mission, who has been released by the brigands and has arrived at Yenchow. She also reported that she saw H. E. Legard, of the China Inland Mission staff, among the hostages.

Legard was held by a different band from that which captured and later freed M. Soderstrom, she reported, and the two Americans, together with several other missionaries, are being held by a different band. The State Department, American Minister Schurman has asked the Chinese government to procure their release.

Soderstrom and Legard, whose religious communities are not known here, are understood to have been among a dozen or more foreign missionary workers who were made prisoners recently by bandits.
